TIME'S MASTERPIECE

Call this man what you will, he's the athletic marvel of the age, and that's all there is to it. No matter whether he's "Paavo the Peerless," the "Phantom Finn," the "Finnish Ghost," the "Helsingfors Express," or the "Abo Annihilator" (I made up that last one—nifty, eh?), he is Time's masterpiece, and by his running in the indoor meets in America this winter he has carved himself a permanent niche in the Athletic Hall of Fame.

Father Time, the sculptor, has carved out many record-breaking figures in the past, but none to compare with this man Nurmi. In all the history of track athletics, runners have approached him—his feats of stamina and speed have surpassed all the old-timers. Father Time places his statue in front of those of Tommy Connors, Alf Shrub, John Paul Jones, Mel Sheppard, Norman Tabor and Joe Ray. It is the greatest record-buster of the age, and it isn't even finished yet!

Those who listen to the purveyors of sports scandals might do well to remember that there are a few self-admitted men who even insist that Goliath was the Fred Fulton of his day.

"Do you mind if I relieve myself of a few words concerning the squabble over amateurism in tennis?" R. L. P. writes.

"You don't then listen to my complaint and please read it while giving me your attention. I am just an amateur sport fan interested in nothing more than a fair shot for everybody.

As I understand it, the distinction between the professional and amateur was made originally for the protection of the amateur. "By this I mean that it was realized that the professional, playing the game 365 days a year, attained a skill impossible for the amateur to acquire with only part time to devote to his favorite sport. Hence it was decided that the amateur should play against the amateur and the professional against the professional."

OVERPLAYING MONEY ANGLE
"The tennis people are all wrong in their fight on the player-writer, because they have stressed the money angle too strongly. Any man who is in business is selling something. If he happens to be a champion in sport he inevitably finds himself in the line of business of being an amateur. The regulars, who are the best of the local polo players, will take part in the tournament. The club's regulars, who are the best of the local polo players, will take part in the tournament.

NEW COACH MAKES HIT AT GONZAGA

Northwest Fans Strong for "Clipper" Smith, New Grid Mentor

PORTLAND (Or.) March 2. Gonzaga University of Spokane is taking no chances of upsetting the style of football that has been so successful there under Charles E. (Gus) Dorais, who recently accepted an offer to coach at a salary of $8000 a year. Gonzaga will have Maurice (Clipper) Smith of Portland as coach, and Smith is an able exponent of the brand of football that Dorais made famous at Notre Dame, just as Dorais is.

In signing Smith, Gonzaga has obtained a coach who has been more than making good on the promise made in Portland, Columbia, despite its name, is only a preparatory school and its officials are small. Clipper Smith made the best of his opportunities in the Northwest. He made a fine record, defeating about everything in the prep class in the Northwest. Gonzaga had planned to coach a coach from the East or Middle West, preferably Tom Leah, assistant coach at Notre Dame under Rockne. Rockne and others indicated Smith so enthusiastically that Gonzaga sent a hurried invitation to him to visit Spokane and he was signed up without delay.

Smith played three years at Notre Dame as quarterback and earned a letter in football. He was a member of the Multnomah Athletic Club in Portland and has continued his playing as a member of Multnomah. He played for the Portland team last year and is the successor of Ed Madison, the latter went to St. Mary's.

OBSERVATIONS

BY THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER
BILL HENRY

SO NOW they're threatening to drag young Mr. Stripling out of his life and bring him to California for a battle with Tommy Loughran. If Mr. Stripling's careful he'll get hurt for Tommy is very, very tough. If all they say of Stripling is true, however, he will be well worth watching, for the majority of the experts say that he has everything except a real wallop.

The bout between Sailor Hyman and Tony Fucate, which is in the offing, is scheduled to provide Mr. Stripling with an opponent. Neither of these young men weigh much over 180, and Stripling is around the 170-pound mark. Stripling would be taking a very decided chance, however, if he were to agree to tangle with either of these battling young men, both of whom pack a heavy wallop.

Tony Fucate's entire future really hangs on his showing with the sailor. If Tony does what his friends say that he can do, and proceeds to whale the tar in a thorough and painstaking manner, then there is pretty nearly no limit to the matches and money that he can accumulate. Every body would be glad to see him do it. If he doesn't win from Hyman, everybody would discount all his previous victories and he'll be all through as a top-notch attraction.

If it did nothing else, the Hotel Huntington Invitational tennis tournament at Pasadena demonstrated that if you're willing to take a chance by getting something really attractive in the way of tennis, the crowds will repay you for your trouble several times over. The more fact that Helen Wills was to play drew the biggest three-day gallery in the history of local tennis and, in return, the players provided the crowd with some wonderful tennis to interest them.

The north got away with the major share of the play, but the south was sufficiently close and exciting, the guarantee that when the North vs. South women's matches are played at Midwick a month from now there will be a capacity crowd to witness them. The addition of Mary Browne to the southern team and Helen Jacobs, national girl's champion, to the northern team will make the affair additionally interesting.

We've learned a lot about running since the tournament down here in the past few years. Maybe we knew all these things a long time ago, but we've evidently forgotten all about them in the meantime and it is a decidedly craves what is necessary, and after years of neglect on the part of the supply that necessity, nature creates the desire by giving one more reason for the want.

Every one of us has that natural desire to be well and healthy; but we are so busy that we don't give energy that stores up in fresh air, to circulate through our bodies. The regulars, who are the best of the local polo players, will take part in the tournament. The club's regulars, who are the best of the local polo players, will take part in the tournament.

BECOME SLUGGISH
When one forms the habit of overeating, one becomes sluggish, and it is hard to breathe properly. It is an effort for one in that condition to do so, therefore, one has the tendency not to breathe as much as they should, when on the other hand, one in that condition needs to breathe more freely to aid nature in the process of burning up the waste which is being accumulated through wrong living. One should modify their eating so as to be able to breathe freer. It is wrong to overeat; it is still worse for one to neglect to breathe when the waste has accumulated, knowing that it is necessary to supply the system with oxygen.

Stylish, goodlooking, comfortable clothes at prices they know are right. Lay your old clothes aside as nature does. You will feel more alive and fit into the picture in a new spring suit.

"My lady or gentleman can dark their gray or faded hair, and their twenty years younger with a simple remedy, which they can use at home. To half a pint of oil of bay rum, add one ounce of Barb's Compound and all box of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any store at very little cost. Apply to the hair every other day until the gray hair is darkened and the scalp it does not color the scalp. ASSERT GERMANY PREPARED
French Charge Secret Training of Officers, Hidden Factories for Arms

PARIS, March 2.—The opinion of Marshal Foch and his colleagues of the Allied War Committee is that the report of the military commission shows that the Germans persist in their determination to maintain a complete staff of officers for an army such as existed prior to 1914. Also, the committee believes Germany is educating not only officers and subalterns to this end, but under all sorts of camouflage, is training enough young men to mobilize a strong fighting army whenever it wishes to do so.

This, the committee says in a written opinion which the Ambassadors' Council will consider tomorrow, is of far greater import than the discovery of unauthorized war material, although it is pointed out that the existence of illicitly manufactured rifles, machine guns and parts of cannon emphasizes the seriousness of the situation.

Among the details of the control mission's report, to which the military experts refer, is the discovery in steel mills of secret shops where the most improved type of cannon and even unfinished tubes that are ready to be fired. Tips given by German pacifists lead to many kinds of this sort, including rifles, machine guns and parts of cannon.

Information given by workmen employed in chemical factories led to the discovery of the production of gas which has been used in the past. The report on this point confirms evidence which the Allies have had for some time to the effect that the Germans had erected many new factories that could almost instantly be devoted to the production of gas.

Thirty-one General Rules of Conduct Outlined

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Secretary Hughes, appearing today for the last time as chairman of the governing board of the Pan-American Union, presented to it thirty-one projects, drawn up by the American Institute of International Law for the codification of international law as affecting this hemisphere. The projects will be transmitted by the members of the board to their respective governments and will form the basis of discussions at the forthcoming international congress of jurists in Rio de Janeiro.

Secretary Hughes, asserting the projects mark a definite step toward the formulation of an "American international law," declared that "thanks to American initiative, there are the three great accomplishments in the most important endeavor of the human race to lift itself out of the savagery of strife into the domain of law breathing the spirit of amity and justice."

TYPICALLY AMERICAN
The thirty-one projects were described by the Secretary as embracing a "declaration of the rights and duties of nations, statements of the fundamental basis of international law and of the fundamental rights of the American republics, and the formulation of rules with respect to jurisdiction, international rights and duties, and the pacific settlement of international disputes. He pointed out that the recommendations besides including "the law universal, contain not a few rules of American origin and adapted to American exigencies."

Mr. Hughes explained that the projects or draft conventions were submitted to the governing board "either for approval or for criticism at this time."

In expressing his gratification, we are not dealing with texts or passing upon particular proposals," he said. If we respect each other's rights, we intend to do it, we co-operate in friendly efforts to promote our common prosperity as it will be our privilege to do, we will be no such grievances in the future. There are no differences between nations which do not lend themselves readily to the amiable adjustment of nations on maintaining friendship."

"I believe that this day, with the submission of these proposals which take the question of the development of international law to a mere amiable aspiration, marks a definite step in the progress of civilization and the promotion of peace, and for that reason will long be remembered."

ANAHEIM CHIEF ISSUES WARNING*Corrects Impression City is "Wide Open"*Slot Machines Confiscated Soon as Placed*Autoists Told to Observe Speed Limits

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE)
ANAHEIM, March 2.—That many Los Angeles people have the impression that Anaheim is running wide open since the election and that laws are a thing of the past here, is the opinion of Chief of Police Charles Nichols who today issued a warning to motorists from Southern California's metropolitan city. Nichols said that he was not at all sure that the city was running wide open, but he was sure that the city was running tight.

Motorists are welcomed to Anaheim, said Nichols, but he is asked to co-operate in enforcing the ordinances here. During the week since the election, Nichols tagged was from Los Angeles and today nine Los Angeles drivers are scheduled to appear before the judge as a result of ten arrests yesterday. All the drivers were proceeding through the business district at 35 miles per hour.

Chief Nichols declared that not only old laws still exist here, but were being rigidly enforced and the impression that law government was being run by the city was entirely wrong. This was further demonstrated Saturday when a Los Angeles firm attempted to install slot machines in several business establishments here. Just five minutes after the machines were installed, Chief Nichols had them removed. This court was followed by the city's police and the machines were seized.

A representative of the firm told Chief Nichols that he understood Anaheim was "wide open" now, and would be a profitable place for slot machines.

NEW YORK, March 2.—Vigorous rallies in convertible liens, which were influenced by the buoyancy of the stock market, featured today's trading. The market generally displayed a steady tone although some of the early strength was lost on a late wave of profit taking which drove closing prices an irregular appearance.

A spectacular advance of more than 3 points in Standard Gas convertible 1-2s eclipsed a rise in the stock and carried these bonds above 125 to a new high record. Other convertible issues which broke into new high ground included Pan-American 6s, which kept pace with a 3-point rise in the company's shares. Trading in the oil liens was stimulated by merger reports and prospective advances.

NEW YORK, March 2.—Promoted strength was shown by virtually all groups of stocks in today's curb market. South Petroleum jumped 5 points to 1.85 and net gains of 1 to 3 points being recorded by Continental, Gulf, Matco, Mountain Producers, Ohio, Penn. Mex fuel, and others.

Reversal of activity in Woodley followed the announcement that it had been listed on the Boston Stock Exchange.

The Car Lighters-Pumps rebounded another new high at 4 1/4. Geo. Motors responded to the declaration of a stock dividend by jumping nearly 4 points to 22 and then slipping 1/2 to 21 1/2 at the close.

300 issues, which have been heavy for the last weeks, displayed an improved tone. Public issues were in better demand, net gains of 1/2 to 3/4 points being recorded by American Power and Light, Commonwealth and Middle West. Despite the revival of intent in railroad stocks, price movements of rail bonds lifted. Gains of a point or so by Colorado and Southern 4s, Florida, Western and Northern 7s, and New York Central 4s were counteracted by the heaviness of Baltimore and Ohio 4 1-2s, Seaboard 6s and St. Paul 4s of 1925, the latter at one time dipping 2 1-2 points.

Considerable interest was shown investment circles in the Treasury's plans for new government financing. In the absence of any definite announcement, bankers were inclined to believe that the March 15 operation would take the form of a short-term issue of between $300,000,000 and $400,000,000.

Poles and Profit
 Public utility companies in the United States alone bought over three million wooden poles last year. Even if no new lines were built, depreciation on the thousands of poles now in use would necessitate an enormous annual production for replacement. Think of the demand this places on the forests for straight, strong, slender trees!

The Seymour Inlet Timber and Pulp Company has 500,000 Cedar trees suitable for poles. These have been included in the company's purchase of securities.

Should it succeed in reaching this point with effective fighting and supply units, it will win the problem and determine the feasibility of the coast. The size of the Blue Fleet is to cut intercept and destroy the Black Fleet. It must scout over hundreds of miles of territory, locate the Black Fleet and then concentrate its power against the intercept.

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

With the glorious weather and the Lenten season partially lessening the strenuous social obligations, society is turning its attention to out-of-door sports, and Del Monte is having its share in the golf tournaments which are being arranged for this week-end and next week. From the 5th (Thursday) to the 8th (Sunday) the senior tournament will take place on the picturesque Pebble Beach links, the qualifying round of eighteen holes being Thursday morning, when flights of eight will be paired, continuing at match play to the final Sunday.

Among the distinguished visitors at Del Monte this month is Mrs. William H. Redd, wife of former Ambassador to the Court of St. James, who, accompanied by Miss Eleanor Goss, one of the foremost American tennis players, is a guest at the home of Mrs. Arthur Ross Vincent of Burlingame, and all have been thoroughly enjoying the tennis and golf tournaments at Del Monte Lodge.

Dinner Guest

Woman Burned In Gasoline Explosion

Chicago, Ill.—March 3.—Mrs. Blanche Cross, 34 years old, was painfully burned about the hands and face in a gasoline explosion in her home at 12 o'clock this afternoon.

Mrs. Cross had cleaned a skirt in gasoline in the yard in the rear of her home. After she had put her skirt on the line to dry, she went into the house to put a light under the vegetables to be cooked for dinner.

The gasoline vapor clung to the clothes she was wearing. When she lit the match, the vapor instantly exploded.

Over 800 women in the United States were killed last year while attempting to clean clothes at home. National campaign for your protection.

Woman Posing as Man Freed; Case Continued

Edna Brittendall, alias Paul Sidor, Sherman woman who has been wearing man's clothing and doing a man's work for five years to support her two children, was released yesterday on her own recognizance by Justice Powell. Her case was continued to Monday after an argument on legal points by S. S. Hahn, who appeared as her attorney.

Mrs. Brittendall is accused by H. C. Horn, Sherman garage proprietor, of obtaining two tires and tubes worth $22 by false pretenses and was arrested Friday night. Mrs. Brittendall got the tires and tubes last week to make a trip to San Francisco, but her car broke down at San Luis Obispo and she returned. It is said she promised to pay for the equipment as soon as she could, in any case soon after her return from San Francisco. The case is said to hinge in part on whether Mrs. Brittendall represented herself as a man.

ALIENIST SAYS M'COY SANE

Two-Hour Question Answered in One Word; Jury Expected to Get Case Friday

A hypothetical question regarding the sanity of Norman Selby, better known by his ring title as Kid McCoy, that required two hours for Assistant Dist. Atty. Fricks to propound yesterday at McCoy's trial in Judge Crall's court was answered by Dr. Paul E. Bowers, alienist, in one word.

That was "Sane."

In the two hours Fricks went into every detail of McCoy's actions before, during and after the shooting rampage in the Mors antique shop on August 13, 1924, after the slain body of Mrs. Teresa Mors was found, that resulted in charges of robbery and assault to murder on which the former ring champion is being tried.

While the question, much of it highly technical in nature, was being asked, McCoy nodded at intervals and finally closed his eyes and was apparently asleep.

The verdict of the alienist regarding McCoy's mental condition was a part of the prosecution's rebuttal seeking to shatter the defense's plea that McCoy was insane and therefore not to be held accountable for his actions during the hectic few minutes in the shop when he is asserted to have held several persons at bay with a pistol.

Yesterday the trial started on its third week. It is expected that the case will reach the jury by Friday. The alternate juror, Thomas J. Rourke of Astoria, was sworn in yesterday after one of the jurors, William J. Ray of Long Beach, was announced to be ill.

McCoy, at a former trial, was convicted of manslaughter and sentenced to serve one to ten years for the death of Mrs. Mors.

Introduction of further rebuttal testimony will continue today. Asst. Dist. Atty. Fricks is being assisted by Charles Ostrom, former Deputy District Attorney, and special prosecutor, George H. Shreve and Fred Thompson are defense attorneys.

Council Delays Decision Upon Traffic System

The purchase of 100 of the Acme traffic signals was again put over for one week by the City Council yesterday. The indecision of one Councilman makes a sort of a deadlock in the matter, which amounts to a decision between the standardizing of the Acme semaphore-light system and one of the various types of signals that use lights exclusively.

The Traffic Commission, it is learned, will make tests during the week to determine the exact cost of operating the Acme signals. The Commission has opposed their purchase on grounds that the expense will be too great, the Acme signals costing considerably more than the other types. However, proponents of the arm-and-light type hold that its operation is considerably cheaper than the light type, which, figuring on a ten year upkeep, would make the Acme signals cheaper for the taxpayer.

Engineers of the Traffic Commission will make tests to determine just how much electrical current is required to operate the signals which are now installed in the central traffic district. Its report will be made to the Council next Monday.

PAYS WIFE IN COURT

Salesman Who Brought Money to Hearing Made to Yield

It cost Walter L. Gerke just $30 to bring $30 into alimony court with him when he appeared in answer to the citation of his wife, Margaret L. Gerke, for being in arrears in alimony due her.

"Well, how much money have you?" Judge Gates inquired.

"Thirty dollars."

"Got it with you?"

"Yes."

"Give it to your wife," the court ordered. The spectacle aroused so much enthusiasm in the crowd of spectators that Bailiff Olds had to threaten to clear the courtroom to stop the applause that broke out.

Mrs. Gerke has a suit for divorce pending, and Gerke has filed a cross-complaint, both charging cruelty.

DUNES IMPEDE RESCUE OF AVIATOR IN DESERT

Mechanics who left Beatty, Nev., with an engine for an airplane that crashed in Death Valley several weeks ago are experiencing considerable difficulty in hauling the heavy motor over the sand dunes, according to dispatches received yesterday. Leo Nomis, stunt aviator working for the Lasky studios, was returning from Rhyolite, Nev., after flying in "The Air Mail," a picture soon to be released, when his ship became unmanageable and he was forced down. Nomis was rescued in a dazed condition by a searching party.

ROUTS CRAP SHOOTERS

Officers in Flivvers Swoop Down Upon Open-Air Game

A score or more of men shooting craps and playing poker on the sidewalk and in the street in front of 1640 Staunton avenue were routed yesterday by Patrolmen Price and Brown in a flivver. The open-air gamblers had pre-empted the right of way and angry neighbors complained. The men fled in all directions at the approach of the official flivver, but the officers managed to overtake Vincent Conciardi. In response to a question as to what he had been doing, he replied: "I came down to win enough to buy a hair cut."

NINETY-FIRST TO MEET

In an effort to organize a strong Southern California sector of the Ninety-first Division Association, a meeting has been called for next Thursday evening at Marchetti's Cafe, Fifth street and Western avenue. This announcement was made yesterday by Guernsey Frazer, acting secretary. It is requested that those who contemplate attending communicate with Mr. Frazer at 1218 Hellman Bank Building.

SEANCE PRINCIPALS HELD

Bail is Set at $500 at Arraignment; Six Persons Living at "Power Center" Arrested

Six persons taken Sunday in a police raid on the "power center" at 1213 Cedar avenue, Long Beach, were arraigned yesterday in Justice Brayton's court in Long Beach on charges of criminal conspiracy. They were held in $500 bail each for a preliminary hearing the 31st inst.

Those named in the complaint are Mrs. Elizabeth Allen Tomson, 40 years of age, of 1342 North Mariposa avenue, her husband, Mariposa Tomson, 53, her daughter, Holma Tomson, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Follard and Neil Wood, the latter three of whom are said to have lived at the Cedar-avenue address.

The sextet were arrested after it was said, Mrs. Tomson appeared as the materialization of a loved one of Pierce A. Hodge, 20, of Huntington Park, who led the police to the asserted psychic center. Hodge rushed to the cabinet in which the "ghost" appeared and upset her with a flying tackle. A mad scramble followed. It is said in which several of the score of persons at the seance tried to escape.

The arrests were made by Detective Sergeants Glenn and McClelland, and Policewoman Philbrick, who signed the complaint today.

After the hearing today Attorneys Russell Pray and William Richards, who have been retained by the defendants, announced that their clients will make a vigorous fight and that the preliminary hearing will take several days to complete. Arrangements were being made at Long Beach yesterday to raise bail for the sextet.

OHIOANS TO MEET

The former residents of Akron, O., will hold a reunion at Exposition Park next Sunday.

The Rice Method for Rupture is known the world over. You can now see this Method demonstrated and have a Rice Appliance fitted to you. Absolutely no charge, unless you are satisfied to keep the outfit after having the Appliance adjusted and you see how perfectly and comfortably it holds. No harsh, deep-pressure, springing, nothing to gouge the flesh and make you sore. Can be worn night and day with positive comfort. Soft, rubber-like composition pad, any degree of pressure required.

Don't wear a truss all your life when thousands have reported cures through using the Rice Method. Why suffer the burden of rupture if there is a chance to be free from truss-wearing forever? Any way, it will cost you nothing to come in and learn all about the Rice Method and the wonderful outfit. We count on you as an investment. We think during periods of speculative excitement, but what remains after the hurry has passed.

SIDE PAINED HER TERRIBLY

After Childbirth Women Should
Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Restore
Normal Conditions

St. Louis, Missouri. "After my first child was born I was bothered with a pain in my side which became more severe the longer I let it go. I was in a weak and nervous condition, and my side seemed to be the point for all the pain. I was this way for three months, then I read your little booklet and the testimonial. It contained, and started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I could feel relief after the first bottle and I have found it to do all you claim for it. I had to repeat it again after my second child was born. I sure will recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends."—Mrs. M. E. LARSON, 1724 University St., St. Louis, Mo.

If you are suffering from any weakness which causes such symptoms as pains in the side and back and nervous feelings, give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial now.

Do not continue to feel all run-down and half sick when relief is at hand. Sold by druggists everywhere.

Resident Has Awful Experience

"I was twice confined in hospitals, in the last one nothing but gruel water was injected into me six times a day, as my stomach would not retain any food. I suffered terribly; was reduced to a skeleton. My folks saw an ad of Mary's Wonderful Remedy and it has surely saved my life. I weigh 150 lbs. now." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allows the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At all druggists.—(Advertisement.)

POOR BUSINESS LIES REFUTED

Really Values Increased
Over Banner Year

City Goes Through Boom and Scarcely Knows It

Firm Establishment of Oil
Industry Shown

One of the fictions about Southern California that has enjoyed the widest circulation this season is that the "bottom has fallen out" of business. All the embellishments about drought, power shortage, plague, foot-and-mouth disease, crop failures and the like are merely first-aid devices to help accelerate the desired fall. They all boil down to one essence—don't send your money here or it will be squandered; don't come here or you'll likely die of disease and distress.

A typical instance of the regard for truth and logic displayed by the disgruntled correspondent who first declared that most of those who come to California bring fortunes made elsewhere (rather desirable visitors, most communities would say) and then explained why so many remain—because their sufferings and disappointments render them so desperate that they don't care where they die.

There are eight more days left of the Friendship Contest letter writing in which to dispel the hurtful effect of such inanities by telling the truth about living in the Southland here. As a help to prospective contestants who have not yet finished their letters back east, the Times is printing selected facts that reflect the truth, together with suggestions for their use.

Particularly H. H. has gone forth that activity in California real estate has virtually ceased, and hand in hand with this assertion walks another of the same complexion—that the "California oil boom has collapsed." These truisms have a plausible appearance because real estate, and particularly oil lands, are notoriously the subject of violent spasms of speculation.

All commodities, even the most necessary and useful, like the shares of those companies that deal in them, can be manipulated for speculative purposes. Witness food staples, like corn and wheat, basic industries like the iron and steel trade, and even gold itself, the standard of values by which the fluctuations are measured. We count on you as an investment. We think during periods of speculative excitement, but what remains after the hurry has passed.

REALTY VALUES GROW
Take the Los Angeles real estate market. Sales figures for 1924, supposed to be the winter of gloom, showed an increase of 10 per cent over the figures for 1923. Southern California's boom year, 1924, showed a decrease of about 53 per cent of the area dealt in. The number of new places placed on the market declined from 8,591 to 45,857. The number of new subdivisions shrank from 714 to 114. In other words, there was a wholesale contraction in speculation, but the soundness of Los Angeles real estate as an investment proved itself by a substantial increase in value.

To quote a letter written by J. P. Sartori, president of the Security Bank, last December, "The Los Angeles real estate market is an end last spring. This was not unexpected, since no boom has lasted indefinitely, but there has been practically no slump in values."

This was written before a complete check of the sales record was possible. When made it proved that, instead of "practically no slump," there had been a gain, which exceeded the belief of a conservative observer.

"One explanation of this," the letter continued, "is that people have lived up to their obligations and faithfully kept up the installment payments on real estate. This in itself is strong evidence of active business and little unemployment."

BOOM UNREALIZED
In fact, instead of falling out when it was touched, the bottom of the real estate market proved firm, and close to the boiling surface. Los Angeles went through a boom and scarcely knew it. Few communities that have experienced one can say as much.

Conceding that real estate values, for some inexplicable reason, continue to drop up and even fall, and even that we may raise a little garden truck and some citrus fruit in Southern California, the super-ficial critic will insist that we never can amount to anything industrially because we have no fuel deposits and no iron. He is even gloomy about agriculture dependent on irrigation, which he darkly hints is a man-made device to cheat nature.

By fuel deposits this type of crane hanger means coal. He totally overlooks oil, or slightly refers to it as an adjunct to the main thing in which there has been a boom. It means nothing to him that oil is in the Pacific Coast what coal is to the East. He takes into no account that the great producing oil companies in the last five years have put hundreds of millions into long-term leases, fee simple holdings, pipelines, refineries, tide-water terminals and fleets of tankers, until their fixed investments today probably are in excess of $1,000,000,000.

Los Angeles is the greatest manufacturing and shipping point of petroleum and refined petroleum products in the United States. Nor has this huge investment been made haphazard. Surveying the whole field after more than thirty years of intensive exploitation, such a foremost authority as E. L. Debeney wrote for the Winter Annual Number of The Times: "I regard the longevity of the oil industry in California, as well as the longevity of the California oil well, as being so firmly established that I consider California secure in relying on her present sources of fuel for industrial and automotive purposes for generations to come."

His opinion, it may be added, is shared by the chief engineers and consulting geologists of all the important producing petroleum companies now active in the Los Angeles basin.

RULES AND PRIZES

They may be mailed or deposited in the Prize Letter Box, main lobby, Times Building. No letter shall be eligible for a prize unless it has been deposited in the Prize Letter Box or postmarked on or before the date and hour specified.

(2) The purpose of all letters submitted in this contest shall be to make friends for California, through a truthful presentation of her attractions. Contestants may write whatever in their judgment is best calculated to inspire a desire to visit or live here. The effectiveness of the letter, as a convincing communication from one friend to another, will be the principal consideration. For this reason, no letter should contain any reference to this contest.

(3) All letters must be copies of bona fide originals which have been mailed to actual persons or to newspapers at correct addresses outside the State of California. In other words, write your letter, mail it to some one you know or to your home-town paper and send a copy to the Prize Letter Editor of The Times, Los Angeles. The genuineness of letters will be subject to check.

(4) Every letter must bear the name and address of the person on paper to whom the original has been mailed, and the name and address of the writer. Put these on the letter itself, not on a separate sheet. Write on one side of the paper only.

(5) All contestants must be persons now living in Southern California, that is, in Los Angeles, Orange, San Diego, Imperial, Riverside, San Bernardino, Ventura, Santa Barbara, San Luis Obispo, Tulare, Kings, Inyo or Kern counties. Temporary residents are eligible. It is not necessary to be a subscriber to The Times.

(6) Letters may be of any length up to 1000 words.

(7) Any contestant may write and submit copies of any number of letters during the life of the contest, but each original must be sent to a different address.

(8) No employee of The Times nor any member of his or her family shall be eligible to compete.

(9) No manuscript can be returned.

JUNIOR DIVISION
(10) Membership in the junior division of the contest shall be open to all letter-writers under 16 years of age.

(11) Contestants entering the junior division shall be governed by the same rules formulated for the general contest.

(12) Contestants entering the junior division shall be eligible both for the special prizes in that division and the larger prizes offered for the general contest. In addition to giving their names and addresses and the names and addresses of those to whom their letters have been mailed, junior contestants must state their correct age. Such statement will be subject to verification. All letters entered in this division must be so designated.

The Atlantic Coast and shipped north by water to the industrial cities of New England. Valuable deposits of coal in the San Juan Basin, inland from Los Angeles, await the construction of a railroad.

High-grade iron ore in vast quantities has been long known to exist in the San Bernardino Mountains, a few hours' distant from Los Angeles by rail. Plans for the first blast furnace in the Pacific Coast, to be erected at Long Beach, were financed last year.

CARRILLO AND KELLOGG HITS ON ORPHEUM BILL

By Grace Kingsley

No matter how high hat you are, you needn't apologize for going to the Orpheum this week. But don't worry. The high hat stuff is the most entertaining element of the bill even to the low hats.

Charles Kellogg's nature entertainment, to be explicit, and Leo Carrillo's thrilling recitation of a French poet's account of a hero stung by twelve American doughboys during the war.

Kellogg gives a brilliant demonstration of woodcraft and birdcraft, and an amazing revelation of the relation between the vibrations of light and sound. He makes lights rise and fall to certain vibrations of sound. He shows how savage people use a radio system all their own by tuning in by means of a hollow gourd with another hollow gourd miles away, with other interesting facts.

He gives a most unique concert of forty phonographs going at one time with different birds singing in each one.

This man lives in the open many years at a time, but comes back occasionally with a new message to theater and audience, and though he is a fine showman he is not in the least theatrical.

Here is an absorbing novelty, a most fascinating exhibition, a thoroughly charming act, and one redolent of outdoor nature truths.

Leo Carrillo, the showman, has him—you see I knew him when he was a small boy in Kila, when he lived next door to me and used to draw funny little pictures on his slate and speak funny little pieces at school, so I can say "Lord bless him," if I want to—back, bringing all the charm and personality for which he is famous.

This mobile face of blue-boy reflects every mood, whether of humor or pathos. I think if he were in pictures, he would make the sheiks look like a 30-cent shirt after a hard day's washing. His dialect stories are classics, and his dramatic recitation marks him as the real artist. Leo has gone and got himself into the show, and he looks more the matinee idol than ever.

Weber and Fields are delightful in their old pool-room act, though I was a bit disappointed that never once did Fields stick his finger in Weber's eye. We have so grown to expect that bit of nonsense, and it is a sort of trademark of the team.

Bruno Steinbach has an immense range of expression in his piano playing. He can make that old instrument plead and cry and burst forth in triumph. His technique is classical, but his style is unaffected mannerisms. He holds the duce spot on the bill, which is rather a difficult one.

The jangling of classic numbers is the best thing Jim and Betty Morgan's orchestra does. Jim pounds the box and Betty warbles. Her songs are old, and though she does them gracefully, one wonders what on earth all the song-writers are doing these days.

There are bright spots in Art Henry's and Leah Moore's act, but in the main it is dull. Their dancing is their best offering. Billed as "Queen of the Wheel," Gertrude Clegg, on the opening spot, is the queen and also a couple of acres in her bicycle riding. Mortimer MacRae gets away with some clever clown stunts. The three Rubes, as usual, give us some comedy acrobatics and music, and some neat juggling.

MONTY BANKS TO DO FULL LENGTH ONES

Monty Banks is the latest comedian to feel that the two noters cramp his art. So he has joined the ranks of those who would tell it with laughs in full-length program pictures.

It was learned yesterday that Monty, he of the trick mistakes and the woe-begone grin, has promoted his own producing company and will make three feature-length comedies annually for the associated Exhibitors' release.

He started the first one yesterday at the Cell De Milla studio in Culver City—formerly the Ince plant—with Gil Pratt and Al Lewis sharing the megaphone. It is called "Keep Smiling," and has to do with the adventures of a war-weary youth who is constantly thrown into alarming intimacies with the ocean.

Banks' success with the financing of his new venture is largely based on the overwhelming success of "Hiding Luck," his first feature-length production into which he threw all his savings. The picture was widely acclaimed. His new ventures will be devoid of slapstick stuff, Banks said, and will be straight comedy-dramas.

Banks appears to be the only one of the flock of two-reelers who appeared a couple of years ago who has survived the ordeal. He made an extensive series of successful two-reel comedies which eventually placed him in line for his present promotion.

Says Jannings Won't Come

Hopes of several Los Angeles producers to get Emil Jannings, the most famous of all German screen actors, who is now appearing in "The Last Laugh," coming to the Criterion Theatre, have been dashed, according to Marjorie Daw, screen star, who is now at the Ambassador Hotel, after her first Southern California trip since she returned from picture-making in England, Paris and Berlin.

"I had a long chat with Jannings in Berlin during which he told me he had received flattering offers from three producers to work in Hollywood," said Miss Daw. "But he assured me he would positively not accept any of them. He would love to work in Los Angeles, and he knows that, but he has an agonizing fear of crossing the Atlantic. It is that fear

"HURRICANE" HARDLY AS BOISTEROUS AS TITLE

By Edwin Schallert

To see Olga Petrova on the stage is an experience that always offers certain compensations. She has a glowing and unusual personality, and is gifted with a supreme poise and a strangely penetrating humanness of feeling that, under almost any circumstances that might be imagined, would cause her presence to shine out with a curious and uncanny effulgence.

I am afraid, though, that that is about the only recommendation that I can offer for the stage play, "Hurricane," in which she is appearing this week at the Biltmore Theatre. It was written by herself, and is only another reason for reiterating that, as a rule, players do better to stay with their playing, and leave the writing to those who make it a business.

Of course, Petrova has manifested her versatility in various ways. Her singing of the Volga Boat Song in the opening scenes proved several instances of which she has written verse and musical numbers too, I believe, of no mean merit. She was an exceptional woman as a woman, and all of this reflects in her personality, and to a degree in her work.

"Hurricane," however, is not her radiant and special triumph, and merely appears as a setting, though very inadequate one, for herself. It is a veritable "Pilgrim's Progress" for length and tediousness, and the material out of which it is composed is hardly as uplifting. In fact, the dialogue uses words in several instances with more force than discrimination, according to the currently accepted modes of the stage.

It is fortunate that Petrova is seldom absent during the four "unlucky" (they did not have enough action apparently for them to be called acts) which compose the first three acts. Her trills of expression, the infections that she gave the lines, even in the drab Texas scenes, and the occasional brought a certain well-defined joy to the beholders, and eventually settled in so much applause that she came before the curtain and made a talk that very typically rendered the rather embracing Petrova sentiment.

The company and the production which surrounds Miss Petrova has much to commend it. Especially telling in its reality was the portrayal of Ludmilla Toretka as the Polish mother. Here was a performance that seemed to penetrate very deeply indeed into a character.

I liked also the work of Percy Carr as the doctor. Something about his sinister about his work, in spite of the fact that his role did not class as villainish in the least, made it rather strikingly interesting.

Ann Reader evidenced appeal. Some of the other portrayals, like that of Joseph Granby and Lewis Willoughby seemed somewhat conventional, but the roles were decidedly short of opportunity. George Feller passed as a superb the part of the Polish father.

RUSSELL PURLOINS RIALTO CROOK FILM

A few twittings of the lips—and Bill Russell, ex-bruiser and ex-matinee idol takes his place among the really great pantomimic artists of the "On Thin Ice," at the Rialto Theatre.

And out of a mass of crook situations, crook dealings, crook regeneration and the like comes this one indelible piece of business which not only tops all the other time-honored technique of cinema death, but makes one forgive the hokum which has been sprinkled plentifully through the picture.

The story trails along in the accepted paths of all crook stories, scenes of living up to his environment which teaches him to live off the more fortunate in worldly goods.

A girl is caught in the same maze. The desire to go straight comes to them, but because of a certain sense of loyalty and because of the stigma of their former associates, they are caught up in the same net again. That is, almost. Of course, there are always two ways that the hero and heroine can go straight; somebody gets shot and confesses or the fatal fingerprint is found at the last moment. The former method was chosen in this.

Russell's remarkable work and faint smirk suggests a Stancie leer as he tried to gain control over his features, is refreshingly novel, but the effect would have been heightened if the director or film editor had not left in the some twenty or thirty feet of unnecessary film after this climax.

Edith Roberts gave a well-balanced performance as the girl, well-balanced in the respect that although it was comprehensive, and thoroughly rounded out the character, yet there was nothing unusual or particularly distinguishing about it. It is just one of the many, and probably will lay no claim to the memory. This is not wholly to be blamed on Miss Roberts, however, but on the story.

Tom Moore was his usual lovable Irish self, and when that is there, every detail is covered. Probably there is no one on the screen who is capable of doing so little and at the same time doing so much by just being present.

Unhappily Theodor Von Elts suffered in the cutting. What was originally a delectable part, and most capably handled, was too small to really show what this promising young actor is really capable of doing.

DOPE SELLER SENTENCED

R. P. Shippey was sentenced to serve fifteen months at Leavenworth yesterday by Federal Judge James on a charge of violating the Harrison Antinarcotic Act. Shippey withdrew a plea of not guilty and entered a plea of guilty to having sold cocaine to a Federal narcotic agent.

Of course, there are always two ways that the hero and heroine can go straight; somebody gets shot and confesses or the fatal fingerprint is found at the last moment. The former method was chosen in this.

Russell's remarkable work and faint smirk suggests a Stancie leer as he tried to gain control over his features, is refreshingly novel, but the effect would have been heightened if the director or film editor had not left in the some twenty or thirty feet of unnecessary film after this climax.

Edith Roberts gave a well-balanced performance as the girl, well-balanced in the respect that although it was comprehensive, and thoroughly rounded out the character, yet there was nothing unusual or particularly distinguishing about it. It is just one of the many, and probably will lay no claim to the memory. This is not wholly to be blamed on Miss Roberts, however, but on the story.

Tom Moore was his usual lovable Irish self, and when that is there, every detail is covered. Probably there is no one on the screen who is capable of doing so little and at the same time doing so much by just being present.

Unhappily Theodor Von Elts suffered in the cutting. What was originally a delectable part, and most capably handled, was too small to really show what this promising young actor is really capable of doing.

DOPE SELLER SENTENCED

R. P. Shippey was sentenced to serve fifteen months at Leavenworth yesterday by Federal Judge James on a charge of violating the Harrison Antinarcotic Act. Shippey withdrew a plea of not guilty and entered a plea of guilty to having sold cocaine to a Federal narcotic agent.

PLAYDOM

MAINLY PETROVA

"HURRICANE" HARDLY AS BOISTEROUS AS TITLE

By Edwin Schallert

To see Olga Petrova on the stage is an experience that always offers certain compensations. She has a glowing and unusual personality, and is gifted with a supreme poise and a strangely penetrating humanness of feeling that, under almost any circumstances that might be imagined, would cause her presence to shine out with a curious and uncanny effulgence.

I am afraid, though, that that is about the only recommendation that I can offer for the stage play, "Hurricane," in which she is appearing this week at the Biltmore Theatre. It was written by herself, and is only another reason for reiterating that, as a rule, players do better to stay with their playing, and leave the writing to those who make it a business.

Of course, Petrova has manifested her versatility in various ways. Her singing of the Volga Boat Song in the opening scenes proved several instances of which she has written verse and musical numbers too, I believe, of no mean merit. She was an exceptional woman as a woman, and all of this reflects in her personality, and to a degree in her work.

"Hurricane," however, is not her radiant and special triumph, and merely appears as a setting, though very inadequate one, for herself. It is a veritable "Pilgrim's Progress" for length and tediousness, and the material out of which it is composed is hardly as uplifting. In fact, the dialogue uses words in several instances with more force than discrimination, according to the currently accepted modes of the stage.

It is fortunate that Petrova is seldom absent during the four "unlucky" (they did not have enough action apparently for them to be called acts) which compose the first three acts. Her trills of expression, the infections that she gave the lines, even in the drab Texas scenes, and the occasional brought a certain well-defined joy to the beholders, and eventually settled in so much applause that she came before the curtain and made a talk that very typically rendered the rather embracing Petrova sentiment.

The company and the production which surrounds Miss Petrova has much to commend it. Especially telling in its reality was the portrayal of Ludmilla Toretka as the Polish mother. Here was a performance that seemed to penetrate very deeply indeed into a character.

I liked also the work of Percy Carr as the doctor. Something about his sinister about his work, in spite of the fact that his role did not class as villainish in the least, made it rather strikingly interesting.

Ann Reader evidenced appeal. Some of the other portrayals, like that of Joseph Granby and Lewis Willoughby seemed somewhat conventional, but the roles were decidedly short of opportunity. George Feller passed as a superb the part of the Polish father.

RUSSELL PURLOINS RIALTO CROOK FILM

And out of a mass of crook situations, crook dealings, crook regeneration and the like comes this one indelible piece of business which not only tops all the other time-honored technique of cinema death, but makes one forgive the hokum which has been sprinkled plentifully through the picture.

The story trails along in the accepted paths of all crook stories, scenes of living up to his environment which teaches him to live off the more fortunate in worldly goods.

A girl is caught in the same maze. The desire to go straight comes to them, but because of a certain sense of loyalty and because of the stigma of their former associates, they are caught up in the same net again. That is, almost. Of course, there are always two ways that the hero and heroine can go straight; somebody gets shot and confesses or the fatal fingerprint is found at the last moment. The former method was chosen in this.

Russell's remarkable work and faint smirk suggests a Stancie leer as he tried to gain control over his features, is refreshingly novel, but the effect would have been heightened if the director or film editor had not left in the some twenty or thirty feet of unnecessary film after this climax.
